Activity Program Begins At Last!

On October 12 "activity selection" forms were filled out, discussed slightly, and then forgotten. Now, because activities began on Tuesday, let us refresh your memory.

In the first group of activities whose membership is limited to staff and elected members are Student Council (sponsored by Mr. Straight), Annual (Miss Pietsch), Newspaper (Miss Francis), Dance Band (Mr. Ward), National Honor Society (Miss Fahrenholtz), and Industrial Arts (Mr. Bates). This last activity is new this year and will provide shop students with an opportunity to work on special pro-

In the second group, membership is limited in number. These include Science Club (Mrs. Chafin), Coed Sports (Mr. Esip and Miss Eaton), junior and senior high German-American Clubs (Herr Longolius and Errus Schirmen). Union Bad Green American Clubs (Herr Longolius and Frau Schirmer), Junior Red Cross (Miss Skaar), junior and senior high Chess Clubs (Mr. Priebe and Mr. Schultz), and Russian Language Study (Herr Voigt). The Russian Language Study is also new this year and had to be limited to senior high because about 150 students selected it. This activity will study selected it. This activity will study not only the language but different aspects of culture, customs, history, geography, government, and the people themselves.

Most of these activities will meet during the once-a-week Activity Period on Tuesdays, but many will hold supplementary meetings after school and during lunch. All students who did not select an activity, will be assigned to a study hall during Activity Periods.

An enjoyable pastime in our lives which is shared by nearly everyone in the world, is singing, primarily This is because of the demands a This is because of the demands a musical places on the singers at the end of the year, when they are already busy with final exams. A festival, on the other hand, doesn't require as much time.

We are extremely fortunate in having a chorus despite the fact that we are a small school, and lucky to "have a teacher with so much patience and understanding."

Band Outplays Team At Ball Games

"Forward . . . March!" Left, Right, Left, Right; "Cover down from front to rear." These have become familiar words to our marching band. All of you that are in the band know these orders, right?

Our band has come a long way in the past three years. This year seems to be a first for many things—new school, newly-organized Pep Club, and now a marching band including majorettes. Our marching band provides pre-game entertainment and half time shows Bert Compbell has half time shows. Bert Campbell has proven himself to be an excellent drum major. The new uniforms give our band a special look. This year the band has all the equipment needed to run a decent ensemble; a really fine music room, new sheet music, new instruments, and new stands. All of these changes didn't come overnight. Through genuine interest in music the band's needs have been fulfilled. Many students are responsible for these changes, for the largest amount of money was raised through student ticket sales. Also donations from the PTA, various women's clubs, and even private donors have helped our band.

When the first snow covers the ground the marching band will shed it's white tennis shoes and hats and Dance Band which will meet during function as an indoor concert band. Were H.R. Representatives Elected For Nothing?

by Don Drach

The purpose of the Student Council is to serve the students of our school. This goal, in past years, has been sucessfully attained by the attendance of not only the Executive Council, but by the all-important Homeroom representatives at the Student Council meetings. It has been over a month now since the homerooms elected students to re-present them, but these represen-tatives have not yet attended one

Homeroom representatives can be compared to our national represent-atives in Washington. These men and women, because of a close association with the citizens of their district, know what the people really want, and represent them well in Congress. On the other hand, the Executive Council is similar to the United States Senators. They represent the nation as a whole, and cannot concisely see what its citizens single meeting! This is certainly not serve its purpose, it is an absolute their fault. Perhaps the guilt lies necessity that homeroom representa-within the Executive Council, its tives, who, collectively, realize what want. For the Students Council to entatives are diligent, and I'm sure they would be more than willing to sacrifice their lunch hour whenever necessary to attend a meeting. If Student Council meetings were held after school, 90 % of the represen-tatives could be counted on to show up. They want to serve us so letic up. They want to serve us, so let's give them the chance.

There are two things we can do to remedy this situation. Talk to teachers and get their support. Our teachers would be more than willing to help the students in a good cause. 'Corner' Student Council members and let them know how we feel about this situation that urgently needs to be corrected. Talk to our President and other members of the Executive Council and clue them in on the true public feeling.

NCA Evaluation Made At Berlin H.S.

Accreditation Pending Until February Next Year

sults of an opinion poll which inwell can these students judge? Is their evaluation valid? This opinion was recently substantiated by professional educators from stateside schools during our annual accreditation evaluation last week.

Dr. Gordon Cawelti, Executive Secretary of the NCA and Dr. Floyd Hall, Assistant Superintendent of Evanston Township High School, Illinois, came to Berlin as representatives of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the largest accreditory agency in the U.S.A. At a meeting of the faculty, administration, and military school personnel they summarized their preliminary findings.

They stressed that the purposes of the NCA are twofold: This committee seeks to recognize schools which meet certain minimum standards necessary in an educational institution. It does not try to dis-

Senior Standouts

Most of you probably know Diane Shaw, our newly elected Secretary of Finance. She has been in Berlin for almost two years and thinks its "a great place." She also lived in Erding, which is near Munich and Freising for a year before coming to Berlin.

Besides being active in the Student Council, she belongs to the Pep Club, Newspaper, and Church Choir. She also attends Slide-rule

Her plans after graduating from Berlin High School include going to college somewhere in Oklahoma, hopefully the University of Okla-homa, and becoming a chemist or a teacher. Her favorite classes, al-though she likes them all, are German III, and Physics.

She urges underclassmen to get things done now and not wait till

Although you may not have known it, the handsome bear that popped up out of the foot locker at a pep rally of ours a few weeks ago, was none other than a mighty Senior by the name of Tom Kunzig. Since he spent a year in a German school, this is Tom's first year at BHS but he thinks this school is "pretty good" and he proves it by taking an active part as a guard for the Cubs.

Tom hails from Texas after graduation he plans to go back to school there for a year and then hopefully on to the U.S.M.A. (United States Military Academy.) Tom's favorites include "just about anything" in food and the select blue And as year all and the color blue. And as we all know, he also seems to be rather fond of the expression "Aw rilite!"

In the last issue of BERLIN grace those schools which do not turally, the teacher gets more tired BEAR FACTS, we published the re- meet these standards; it attempts to offer an "outside opinion" on dicated that 47% of the students methods of achieving these standpolled felt Berlin American High ards. Often, they stated, this annual School did not measure up to the evaluation jars a complacent faculty standards of a stateside school. How and student body into self-evaluation and subsequent improvement. Just as a report card every nine weeks often shocks a student into the realization that he is lost, so this "report card" for the school often stimulates the educators to take a second look at just what they have accomplished.

Berlin American High School is a "comprehensive" high school in the jargon of an educator. This means that we have students of many abilities in our midst. Many will go on to college; some will go out to work; some have not the ability to graduate from high school. A good comprehensive high school will meet the needs of all these studentsnot just those of the majority. If BHS meets the needs of all these students it has satisfied the minimum standards of the NCA. Do we? Our judges will not commit themselves to a yes or no until February -but they had many penetrating comments to make about our new "dream school." Berlin High School has the finest physical facility (nicest building) in the Overseas Dependent School System.

The faculty is not sitting complacently in a rut; they are evaluating themselves and their accomplishments and show signs of selfimprovement.

The military command here gives more support-both verbal and actual, than the military on any other overseas post.

The community is actively supporting and contributing to the school and its activities.

Since we are an overseas schoola member of the Dependent School System, we are subject to the frail-ties of a system which has long been criticized by educators. As a member of this system, the school inherits many problems which cannot be solved on the local level. These problems exist in most overseas schools and cannot be solved until someone untangles the hierarchy of government officials responsible for the purse strings and policies of our schools. In a stateside school, a complaint to a member of the school board usually gets an answer—even if the answer is no. In this system, it practically requires an Act of Congress to get dustless chalk. It will require a radical policy change on the part of certain Defense Department Officials to get more teachers.

Some of the problems here in Berlin which will be difficult to solve on the local level are:

1. Class sizes are ridiculously large. An average Junior High class has forty students. Teachers meet as many as 101 students every Like everyone, he dislikes "too much work" and for Tom, happiness is "no worries".

most. The Practical Arts and Work-tudy programs for non-college ound students are minimal and Study bound non-existent, respectively. Students who need courses in automotive mechanics, electronics, business, etc. take general shop, art, home economics, and elementary business courses. Their regular academic subjects, in the higher grades, are taken along with college prep students in many cases.

3. The Guidance Department suffers particularly from the teacher shortage. For 580 students, BHS has $1^{1}/_{3}$ counselors (all of Mr. Hawver, $^{1}/_{3}$ of Mr. Straight). This load precludes an effective counselling program. Students with problems, academic and/or personal, are denied the attention of professional counselors and must resort to friends for an outlet. It is difficult to follow through on the testing that is done as there are no "specialists" handle remedial problems in reading. Students who score below average on reading tests are forced to struggle along with their handicap with only an already harassed English teacher to help out. Naturally, the more advanced students must suffer from this lack also English teachers, who could be giv-ing them extra attention, are busy tutoring the slow-readers.

4. A simple job of ordering necessary supplies such as films, chemicials, books, specimens, and shop materials requires a mountain of paperwork; and then there is no guarantee that orders will be filled within months. Some of you have been without textbooks since August when school opened, 25% of the much-acclaimed PSSC Physics course is based on films which have yet to be delivered as promised. Teachers must use valuable prep periods tracking down needed materials, only to get the satisfaction that these items which were put on a delivery truck weeks ago, are "somewhere."

5. The activity program was found inadequate. Recommendations included an Intramural sports program, more clubs, and an increased number of school-sponsored activities. Efforts have been made in this area, as we all know. What we don't all know is that the expansion of these programs demands an increase in personnel to sponsor such activities. If every teacher in the school were to sponsor a club during the activity period, there would be at least 150 students left over without teacher supervision.

6. Perhaps the most thought provoking criticism of all was the attack on our curriculum. We are all so proud of our PSSC Physics, our New English, and our New Math. But many areas are sadly behind the times. The typing and bookkeeping books are fifteen years old! General Science books predict that one day man will venture into space! Math students get one version of the new math one year; another version the next! The social studies curriculum duplicates material over a period of years and provides few key concepts which students can apply toward organization of social develop-

You do want your picture in the yearbook this year don't you? No yearbook is complete without individual pictures of the school's senior citizens. This year, as in previous years, the pictures cost only 5 D.M. Each student will receive 4, the Yearbook Advisor will keep one.

In order to collect photo money,

there was ten minutes of home-room on Tuesday, 2 November, Thursday, 4 November, and Friday, 5 November. Monday, 8 November is the last day to pay for the pic-tures, because they will be taken on the following day, November 9. Remember the posters, and dress as required.

In January, Junior High group and class pictures plus activity shots will be taken.

Yearbook representatives collect downpayments for "Erinne-rungen" during ten-minute homeroom periods on 30 November, and the 1, 2, and 3 December. The 65/66 yearbook will cost $7.00 a copy.

This year its 'in' to be in on "Erinnerungen."

Miss Hargrove

Mr. Esip

Miss Hargrove, was born across the street from the Brooklyn jail. Unfortunately she never had a chance to view the inside of the jail, since her family moved to Long Island within a few years.

Miss Hargrove attended college in Buffalo and did graduate work at Syracuse University and Yale University. She has also taken some of the University of Maryland courses offered here in Berlin.

As outside interests, Miss Hargrove enjoys travel, reading, music, camping, and people-watching. Her favorite pasttime is "sitting in a nice, gemütlich Gasthaus sipping a

When asked about her future plans, Miss Hargrove replied that she will be returning to the States next year to study further in the field of comparative literature.

Mr. Esip, a native of Massachusetts, taught two years in his home state before coming to Berlin one year ago. His reasons for coming to Berlin were to travel and to see

Our well-known English teacher, Europe. Before returning to the States, he plans to teach one year in Italy.

He was educated at Worchester State College. This past summer he studied towards his Masters Degree which he expects to complete next summer. He also married a pretty little blonde from the Thomas A.

Roberts School.

Mr. Esip enjoys the interesting night-spots, wonderful concerts and operas that Berlin offers, but thinks Berlin is too far from the winter recreation area. In his spare time he enjoys skiing and going to the beaches. He also enjoys working with the beaches on the crosscountry team, except he sometime gets lost in the Grunewald!

He thinks the student body is good, but there's room for improve-ment. He would like to see the students participate in more school activities, such as football games. He thinks the new school is very nice and hopes the students appreciate it.

Mr. Esip is going to be assistant basketball coach this year. He says the team will probably lack exper-ience and he's depending on the Freshmen and Sophomore boys to make it a bright season.

His retirement plans are to retire at Cape Cod and watch and listen to the rolling surf.

A Typical Day In The Seventh Grade JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

Let us introduce you to Susan Watkins is the youngest of four typical day in 7-A. Susan, the daughter of Lt. Colonel and Mrs. Watkins is the youngest of four our children. Most upper classmen will remember her brother Bob who graduated last year.

Susan's first class is with Miss Kilpatrick. While waiting for a few students to return from the library, the class went over some grammar. Susan gave the auxiliary verbs and Charles recited portions of the Dewey Decimal System. Soon the students returned and the class began a spelling quiz.

Mr. Glauner, a science teacher, taught Susan's next class. Like most of Susan's classes, it is very large, consisting of 40 students. As Janice took roll and put the absentee slip outside the door, the class took out their homework. Susan, Janice and Karen gave the daily temperature report as Crystal and Phillip explained the possible.

plained the results.

Susan's next class was Social Studies with Mr. Prebe. Each student in the class was working in the library on a Social Studies subject of his or her choice. Several times the teacher reminded the class that someone was busy taking notes for the school paper and they ought to be making a good impression; but their behavior remained some-what unscholarly, each of them in-sisting that they wanted their name Susan's fourth class was with Mr. Ward and, as usual in nice weather, they marched outside.

As the students were waiting for Mr. Ward to come out they played Mr. Ward's "favorite" song, "Swing-ing on Parade" and amused themselves in other ways!??!!

As soon as Mr. Ward came out As soon as Mr. Ward came out they began to march, playing "Colonel Bogey". They were led by Burt. Karen and Sandy were the flag twirlers. Their precise marching steps led them to the baseball field where they practiced formations.

I will try to be of help to Chuck, our President, by contributing ideas that may help to better the eighth grade. I hope that I can fill the job of President if I should have too. I want this to be a good year for the first eighth grade in the new school, and I hope that I can make it better."

Veda Holshouser says, "I hope to represent my class and the council by using my abilities to keep ac-curate and detailed records. Also, in my secretarial job, I hope to gain experience for possible future positions." The NCA is aware that here in Berlin we are trying to overcome

James Barnett says, "I shall strive to assist my class by serving as Treasurer. By keeping good accounts of the money raised, and helping to select projects to raise money, I hope to accomplish all jobs given

AFN TV Arrives

Are you tired of watching German T.V. and having no idea of what is being said? Attempts are being made to remedy this situation. American T. V. is definitely coming to Berlin early next year!

A special channel will be set up by AFN Berlin, although the programs will only reach those houses in the general vicinity of the AFN transmitter.

The programs broadcast will be the same ones that are viewed by our stateside counterparts. As of yet, no definite schedule of pro-grams has been announced due to many technical difficulties concerning this project.

But rest assured, there will be American T.V. in Berlin within the next few months.

Toul's Warriors, led by their half-back Carl Sessler, beat the Berlin Cubs 46-10 on Saturday, 23 October, at the Sports Center Field.

The Cubs' Ed Posey ran the initial kick-off to the Cubs' 20 yard line. On the 3rd play of the game Berlin lost the ball to the hardhitting Warriors who, with a series of Sessler drives, racked up the first 6 points of the game. Sessler came through with a successful pointafter kick.

Receiving Sessler's kick-off on the 30 yard line the Cubs were forced to kick after missing a first down by 1 foot. The kick was recovered by the Cubs and Berlin executed a good series of passes, but due to two costly penalties, were not able to make any substantial gains.

After catching Stockbridge's punt deep in Warrior territory, Sessler bulldozed the ball through Berlin territory and over the goal line in 4 ground plays. The kick made it a 14-0 game.

After Toul's kick-off they quickly regained possession of the ball when the Cubs' ground game failed to click. Due to the close and effective coverage of Sessler by the Cubs' experienced Steve Denton, the Warriors were forced to kick when 3 pass attempts gained them no yardage. Landing in the end zone, the ball was placed on the Cubs' 20. Although halfback Frank Cancelliere's 20 yard sprint was a great morale booster, the Cubs were un-able to make any further gains. Blocking the Cubs' subsequent kick, Toul started their sequence on Berlin's 38, only to have their threat broken up by Denton who recovered a back field fumble.

Switching into high gear, the Cubs launched a ground and air attack which moved the ball to Toul's 40 in 6 plays. But, as luck would have it, a fumble gave the Warriors the ball at the 40. Two plays later Sessler received a short pass and churned-up 50 yards of Cub turf for another TD. Here, Sessler's foot failed him and the score was 20-0. araramareversessesses

The Berlin Cubs will play their last game of the 1965 Football season tomorrow on the Sports Center Field against Wiesbaden. The Homecoming pep rally will be tonight at the Sports Center. Highlights of this include a skit, a bonfire, and Sock Hop! Come and show our team that we really care who wins this all-important game!

Outside of Berlin's stopping a Toul offensive drive a mere 8 yards away from pay dirt, the remainder of the half closed with little excite-

Three plays after returning Jiru's kick-off to the Warrior 43 yard line, Sessler romped 50 yards to add another 6 points to his total. His kick was no good. Score 26-0.

Starting their next sequence on their own 30 yard line, the Cubs moved the ball 41 yards in 8 plays but lost the ball on downs.

At this point in the 3rd quarter the whole Berlin line seemed to light-up and they held Toul's next offensive sequence to a six yard gain. But the Cubs' air-attack was also unsuccessful and, after an exchange of punts, Toul again had the ball. The Cubs' defensive line remained strong and held to minimal gains and finally jarred loose a fumble, which was recovered by the Cubs' Chuck Schneider. On Toul's 26 yard line Berlin gave up the ball through a heart-breaking fumble. Angered by this loss, the hard-charging Berlin line, aided a penalty against Toul, drove the Warriors back to their own goal line and then went on to gain 2 points by bringing Toul's ball carrier down in the end

Stockbridge ran Sessler's kick-off back to the 45 yard line. A razzledazzle triple reverse ended in a pass from Mark Kettler to Ernie White who ran 59 yards to within 1 yard of pay dirt. Kettler, with a drive over center, picked up six points for the fighting Cubs. A pass was completed for the extra 2 points, making the score 26-10.

Ernie White brought the fans to their feet by recovering an on-side kick-off but the Cubs' new found confidence was put to a sudden and disasterous end when Sessler ran 75 yards with a pass interception TD 3 plays later. The 2 point conversion was successful, making the score 34-10.

Berlin fumbled one play after returning Toul's kick-off to their own 34. Exploiting this opportunity Sess-ler carried in three plays from the 34, to the 14, to the 5, and over for a touchdown.

Jim Collins received the Toul kick-off and brought it up to the 40 yard line. The Kettler-White pass combination gained the Cubs another 10 yards but the sequence and, virtually, the game ended by another Toul interception-touchdown.
Final score 46-10.

Then Murrell Shields and Paul Cavenaugh swept past Karlsruhe to take sixth and seventh places, respectively. Ivan Melnikoff, plagued by injuries the entire season, let a Karlsruhe man slip by and took ninth. Finally, T. J. Winter finished in eleventh place ahead of the last two Karlsruhe men. We really missed Buzz Coleman in Wiesbaden. It seems he thought the meet would be held during halftime of the football game; the race was held in the morning. In the locker room after the race Buzz skipped in and had the nerve to ask us if we were ready to run! Berlin Ties Wiesbaden 6-6

by Ernie White

On the fifteenth of October the Berlin Cubs football team traveled to Wiesbaden, Germany, for their second and last exhibition game of the year. Though the initial outcome of the game was a six-to-six deadlock, the Cubs played a fine game offensively and defensively against their West-German counterparts.

At the beginning of the first quarter the game was progressed so fast that neither team noticed the time. Wiesbaden's tally came late in the second quarter. Because of the short time the Berlin team was in Wiesbaden, no one had a chance to Wiesbaden, no one had a chance to The very next play, quarterback meet any of their players.
