CLASS PROPHECY

Good evening everyone.

After twenty long years the '48 class of T. A. R. High School, Berlin, Germany, is proud to hold its reunion here in Terry Hammond's Pirate Cove Night Club in Philadelphia. The feature attraction tonight will be a contest fashion show between Terry Hammond's "Chorus Line Designs" and the latest "Belgian Look", brought straight from the Belgian Congo by the founder of the "New Look" in mosquito netting, Jo Wiggins.

We have among us tonight such renowned persons as our own president of the United States, Frederick Beckner, who has just vetoed the last of the Russian Compromises concerning our citizens in Siberia. At present he is arguing with Senator Jack Maloney over whether or not the 98th Congress will have congressional rings.

At this point I would like to state that one of those citizens in Siberia is our own classmate, Lis Holmer. She always said she wouldn't get out of Berlin in time.

Mac Gerlach and Mac McCullough, fondly known to us as "Big Mac" and "Lil' Mac", have finally proven that they are not paternalistic bums. Their last publication, "Gateway", saved them from an otherwise inevitable downfall.

Basketball coach, Dick Curran, and his star forward, Bob Greene, are still arguing over their last game. Bob is trying to introduce "slow" basketball but Dick thinks it is strictly a fast game. Dick Nelson, the sports commentator of our era, is agreeing with both sides — says its good for his reputation.

Entering the club now is Marty Huang, the daredevil flyer from Shanghai. We didn't think that Marty would be able to be here with us tonight but he made the flight from China in a sensational two hours.

Well, here come the society debs of '48, Gloria Doman, happily settled in Black River Falls after making a name for herself as a baby doctor in China; Jan Clarke, gay divorcée, now doing well as private secretary to John D. Rockefeller (look out, John); and Dixie Huff now doing swell in her latest dramatic production, no singing thank goodness. All still as charmingly catty as before.

Ed Frohlich and Bill Moore the foremost psychologists in the United States at the present time, are busily intent on analysing each other over their 10th glass of alcohol. It seems that right now Bill is an 'Esel' and Ed resembles a 'Fleisch-kopf'.

And over in a secluded rendezvous we find our old Don Juan, Phil Coe, 'snowing a poor innocent thing under — she seems to get the drift though. 'Lover' we used to call him.

Gunther Florstedt, our most successful chemist in the last five years, is evidently taking his vocation quite seriously. That bathtub gin and rubbing alcohol doesn't mix so well from the looks of our glass-covered floors.

Entering now is our retired EC civilian, Bo Buccieri — he made his millions but he's still tired.

At our spot table, we find Joan Campbell, voted best-dressed woman of the year by the women as well as the men — that hubba-hubba gal. Joan is sharing her table with Nancy Crenshaw, prominent lady-lawyer and speaker. We find, from late announcements, that she has just won the court session of the United States versus Russia concerning our citizens' rights. Looks like we'll be seeing Lis soon.

SENIOR SKIP DAY

At home in the northern states a holiday from school had always been declared on Abraham Lincoln's birthday.

Thus American student attending high-school in Berlin felt that although the shores were foreign, this remembrance should still be observed. During the first year of T. A. R. S. existence, a part of the student body began a tradition of freedom without — leave on this anniversary of the birth of a freedom lover and emancipator. The only disadvantage was not evident until a later date — one on which a half-holiday was declared for Tarians, excluding those who had taken Lincoln-leave.

On February 12, promptly at one o'clock the Senior Class began its afternoon of liberty. A barrel of fun was had by all at one of the student's home. Magazines, dancing, laughing and loafing proved ample entertainment for the "mighty ones". Eating, of course, was the main event (the memory of Abraham Lincoln was held dear to all those present). However, upon their return to school the Seniors received a shock. The faculty proved "tradition — lovers", too. Detention again, this time one hour after school for five days.

The Seniors stood their punishment bravely and there were no outward signs of discomfort or admissions that the punishment was appropriate for dignitaries.

Having helped set two imperfect precedents, the Seniors then wished their loyal successors better luck and two barrels of fun!

JUNIOR CLASS

The juniors of the T. A. R. have had a very busy and varied school year and surely one that will be remembered with gladness as we look forward to becoming prominent (?) seniors next year.

We were known as the most energetic group in school; we were into everything — academic, social and athletic.

The first term class officers, elected amid great confusion, did much to get us working together for the good of the schools. These were Barbara Hathcock, president; Bill McCurdy, vice president; Lois Cluver, treasurer; Deenie Dubbelde, secretary. Although for the first term we worked exclusively in making up the two months we had lost at the beginning of the school year we easily got down to business during the second term. The newly elected class officers were Phil Van Thullenar, president; Barbara Hathcock, vice-president; Sue Sander, treasurer; Adrienne Miller, secretary.

Through the efforts of Phil and Barbara, the co-editors of "Bear Facts", the school paper, a junior project, was finally published. We were in charge of the arrangements for the Junior-Senior Prom. It was very successful and all of us, Seniors included, will remember that prom as one of the best ever held in an American high school, here, or in the States.

In the athletic world, three of our most prominent personalities, Bill McCurdy, Phil Van Thullenar, and Dan Bunting, were on the basketball team.

There were sixteen in our class at the beginning of the year, but we've had several new additions to boost our number to the grand total of twenty-two. During the second term, Barbara Hathcock left us for Frankfurt, and Connie Craig, our class jester, went to Stuttgart.

Of course it is a well known fact that when the next school year opens, this famous junior class of T. A. R., 1948, will become the leading group of 1949. We shall have advanced then to the peak of scholastic attainment, not to mention social prestige. We will then have become the senior class, T. A. R. — 1949.

Watch us — we will lead the way!

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The sophomore class is the largest class in the high school. It ranks as the most popular one in the high school, — next to the (ugh) seniors. It has taken part in most of the school activities and once went on its own to put on a play called Make Room for Rodney. The "characters" were Peter Mulloney, John Hammar, Bitty Avery, Erik Olsen, Joan Florstedt, Frankie Jo Anderson, Jane Rain, and Dan Bunting, a junior.

Three members of our class helped to spark the Cubs to the EC high school championship: Gene Perkins, the Lebanon boy who made his shots with his eyes closed; John Hammar, who found it difficult to move quickly but managed to get there on time (he used his "derriere" quite efficiently); Erik Olsen was the Jack — — Rabbit of the team.

Any visitor who attended one of our class meetings found a well organized and well conducted meeting — A—ahem—m. This may be accredited to the capable class officers that we have had. Our first semester officers were: Bitty Avery, president (she always held the attention of the class); Kathy Crenshaw, vice president; Peter Mulloney, secretary; and Chris Riddleberger, "dough keeper". During the second semester our president was Peter Mulloney, and Kathy Crenshaw was vice president. Anna Marie Hall was the Secretary and the fellow taking care of loose change was Hubert Marshall. Since we did not have quite thirty members of our class during the first semester we had only two representatives on the Board of Governors. They were Dana Durand and Elaine Gerlach. In the second semester we grew to be a class of 32, so we had three student council representatives; namely, Dana Durand, Hubert Marshall, and George Moore. New many of our classmates have left, and are leaving, but next year we hope to have enough old timers left to form the nucleus of T. A. R.'s finest Junior Class.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Our class of '51 is fairly large as classes go in the EC. We started with twenty-two and have worked up to an impressive twenty-five. There are almost as many states represented — even one foreign country — as there are freshmen. During the year we acquired La Jean Wilson, Max Daughtery, Don Reed, Pete Cothran, and Peggy Ganzert and lost, we regret to say, Doris Daigle and Betty Collins.

One of the most memorable events of this year was our initiation into the freshman class. On this occasion the girls looked like wild Indians in burlap sacks and men's shoes, while the boys looked equally as bad, if not worse, in darling pleated skirts and hair-ribbons.

In the fall we chose officers along with the other classes. Bob Kubin was elected president; Barbara Cushing, vice president; Laurie Cushing, secretary; and Betty Collins, treasurer. This spring Bob Kubin, that boy from Kansas, was re-elected president; Paul Coe, vice president; D'Este Whitted, secretary; and Janie Norem, treasurer. Tom Johnson and D'Este Whitted were first semester representatives to the Board of Governors and Barbara Cushing and Harold McLeod were second semester representatives.

Two of the most prominent members of the class were Joyce Curran and Tom Johnson. We were proud to claim Joyce as the "Teen Talk" writer and Tom "Star" Johnson as a swell player on the basketball team.

That about rounds out the year for the freshman class, but we certainly look forward to being sophomores next year.

EVERYBODY HAPPY

TEEN CANTEEN

There is a little house at 20 Meisenstr. that apparently is very popular. Every day at approximately 3:30, the teen-age population of Berlin congregates there. It is the teen-canteen.

Inside the house the first point of interest is the snack bar. Here the refreshments of the remembered corner drug store are served. They are to be eaten only in the Bavarian room — so named because of the decoration of the tables and booths done up in the true Bavarian style. The central part of the house is made up of a group of connecting rooms — lounge, dance floor, and ping-pong rooms. Also included downstairs is a pleasant library and an office.

Upstairs is a fully equipped craft loft, a dark room, and a billiards room.

The club is an ordely, well run Canteen because of its efficient organization. A governing board is elected by the members for a short term of office. According to this plan, many of the teen-agers share in the responsibility of leadership.

The Berlin teen-agers are grateful to the Army for the building, equipment and facilities, which made the Canteen possible. The members, in cooperation with their sponsors, have worked hard to make the it the best Teen-Canteen in the E. C. They are proud of their accomplishments.

Berlin 23 — Munich 25

December 13 — The T. A. R. basketball season started on a sour note in Madison Square Garden. Our Cubs were the victims of every bad break and after a long, hard struggle bowed to a team of six-footers from Munich. Showing lots of fight Berlin pulled within 6 points of the Munich team as the last quarter started and then, as Munich froze the ball, the Cubs put on a last minute drive that nearly succeeded. High scorer for Berlin was Mac Gerlach with 9 points, followed by John Hammer with 6.

Berlin 58 — Wiesbaden 26

January 16 — The effects of nearly a month of hard practice under Van were shown in this game as Berlin crushed Wiesbaden 58-26 in a show of basketball power, Wiesbaden, minus three of her starters showed little of the class that was to make her one of the strongest teams toward the end of the season. Bill McCurdy hit the basket for 15 points and Mac Gerlach hit for 13.

Berlin 33 — Frankfurt 26

January 17 — The Cubs out to avenge the defeats handed last Year's team, halted a tough Frankfurt squad 33-26 in a hard fought contest. Led by Dick Curran's 19 points, the Cubs forged into an early lead and held on throughout the game.

Berlin 26 — Frankfurt 38

February 3 — This time it was Frankfurt's turn as Berlin, unable to break the home court jinx, went down to defeat 38-26. Frankfurt jumped to an early lead and until the last quarter it was not much of a contest. Then the Cubs began to hit, but the game ended with Berlin rimming the basket with long shots. Outstanding for Berlin was Mac Gerlach who swished 12 points and played great ball all the way.

Berlin 34 — Heidelberg 24

February 10 — Stifling Heidelberg's big guns and cracking their tough defense, Berlin racked up 34 points to Heidelberg's 24. Berlin scoring was pretty evenly distributed with Dick Curran sinking 11 points while Mac Gerlach and John Hammer hit for 7.

Berlin 31 — Munich 30

February 20 — This was the game we wanted to win and win we did in a top notch game. From the start our boys, who looked miniature beside the towering team from Munich, matched shot for shot. The score was tied 12 times during the encounter and the lead changed hands 8 times. As the second hand of the clock swung into its final revolution, Munich held a 30-29 lead. The whistle blew and John Hammer stepped up to the foul line for 2 free throws. The first hit the rim, tottered around crazily and then fell out. The second arched through the air and then swished, knotting the score. For the best part of the remaining 40 seconds the teams fought it out and then Munich sent in substitutes. Our alert coach spotted that Munich had two number sevens on the floor — a technical foul. Bob Greene, who up to this time had bucketed 11 points, was elected to shoot for that all important point. His aim was good. The game ended six seconds later — Berlin 31, Munich 30.

Berlin 47 — Nurnberg 13

February 21 — The next day Berlin ran roughshod over a game, but outclassed Nurnberg team 47-13. Every member of our squad was in action and nearly all contributed to the scoring. In this game Mac Gerlach again led in the scoring parade with 11 points followed by Dick Curran and Bob Greene with 10 points each.

Berlin 44 — Heidelberg 28

February 28 — Continuing on their winning streak, the Cubs crushed Heidelberg and the home court jinx, 44-28. Though Heidelberg fought gamely, they couldn't match the power of Berlin. Pacing the scoring were Dick Curran with 15 points, Bob Greene with 10, and Erik Olsen with 8.

Berlin 28 — Wiesbaden 39

March 4 — Unable to get going in the early minutes of play the Cubs watched the Wiesbaden team pull into a large lead. Showing lots of fight Berlin did the almost impossible by pulling to within one point, 18-19, at the half. Fighting to the end but obviously weary from their second and third quarter drive, the Cubs tried everything in the book; but Wiesbaden pulled farther and farther ahead. Final score, 39-28. Dick Curran helped the Berlin cause along with 9 points and Mac Gerlach swished 8 points.

Berlin 34 — Nurnberg 27

March 6 — In their last game of the league season the Cubs ground out a methodical 34-27 victory over Nurnberg. Our first string left the game at the end of the first period after piling up a 15-1 lead and let the second string keep the ball from there. Our fast break man, Erik Olsen, was high man with 7 points.

Basketball Tournament

March 19, 1948

March 20, 1948

On March 19th our Berlin Cubs went down to Frankfurt to compete for the E. T. High School championship. On March 20th they returned to Berlin with the winner's cup. Their drive for the championship started by crushing the high school team from Bremen, 33-21. Clicking from the early moments of play the Cubs built up a terrific half-time lead of 19-6 and then were content to coast in. While Berlin was advancing into the second round of play Munich and Wiesbaden moved ahead with victories over Heidelberg and Nurnberg, respectively.

In the second round of Tournament play Berlin met the Frankfurt team which had drawn a bye in the opening round, Frankfurt took a small early lead, but then Berlin, working like a well-oiled machine, turned on the power and by the quarter had taken over the lead. Halftime found Berlin ahead by four baskets, 20-12. As the second half began, the Cubs stretched their lead over the outclassed Frankfurt team who could not crack the zone. The fourth quarter saw Frankfurt give up the ghost as Berlin swept into a 12-point advantage which they held until the final whistle. Final score: 42-30, in Berlin's favor. While Berlin was dumping Frankfurt, Wiesbaden and Munich were fighting it out to see who would play Berlin for the championship. The result of this hard-fought struggle was Wiesbaden 37, Munich 32. And so it was that the two tournament favorites squared up against each other in the game for the championship.

Saturday at noon the finals of the tournament were played. The first game gave Heidelberg the consolation prize as they defeated a hard fighting Nurnberg team, 39-27. In the battle for third place honors, Munich overcame a large halftime deficit to stop Frankfurt 39-37 in a real thriller. Then came the championship game — Berlin vs. Wiesbaden, Wiesbaden had height on every man, but from the start it was the Cubs who took the lead. With sheer speed they made the Wiesbaden man-to-man defense look outclassed. Meanwhile Wiesbaden showed that they could not crack the Berlin tight zone. Time and again the Wiesbaden sharpshooters, Sheehan and Healy, poised to shoot only to be halted by our hardfighting team. Playing great defensive games for Berlin were Mac Gerlach, Bo Buccieri and Bob Greene. Dick Curran and John Hammer had control of both backboards throughout the game although Wiesbaden's men under the basket had great advantage in height. In vain did Wiesbaden try to follow the Berlin Speedsters, Olsen and Gerlach, down the floor. The half-time score board read 25-16 in Berlin's favor and in the third quarter the lead was stretched to 14 points. Toward the end of the game Berlin slowed the pace down a bit and permitted Wiesbaden to bring the score down to a more respectable 37-29, but nothing Wiesbaden could do could change the result. When the final whistle blew Berlin was champion of the E. T. High School loop.

The Thomas A. Roberts High School had an excellent basketball team this year. The members of the team were: 1) Bryce Gerlach, co-captain, work horse, fastest man on the squad; 2) Dick Curran, co-captain, natural player, out-jumped all opponents; 3) Bob Greene, the professional, a boy with plenty of experience behind him; 4) John Hammer, slow but sure, rough under the backboards; 5) Bo Buccieri, team man who knew the game so well he sometimes forgot it; 6) Erik Olsen, the smallest man on the team, and the one with the most spirit; 7) Dan Bunting, always ready when called upon; 8) Tom Johnson, most promising player on the team; 9) Phil Van Thullenar, freshman in basketball, natural sport, lots of action at the end of the season; 10) Bill McCurdy, up and coming player; 11) Phil Coe, those long set-shots sure helped the cause; 12) Fred Beckner, "new" to the game but "knew" his way around under the boards; 13) Gene Perkins, another freshman, a persistant little player who plugged away all season.

"Fight Team Fight" the hearty yell through basketball games that made our cheer leaders so peppy and brought out the school spirit. Many thanks will go to Gloria Doman, head cheer leader, who was behind the kids and made everyone stand up for T.A.R. None of us will forget Betty Collins, a main cheer leader, who helped raise the spirit of the T.A.R. Betty left us for the U.S. before the tournament.
